Large Animal Internal Medicine Candidate Boot Camp Travel Awards

Description of Award: The Specialty of Large Animal Internal Medicine will provide a limited amount of travel awards for LAIM residents to attend the LAIM Candidate Boot Camp, October 17-20, 2019 at Michigan State University in East Lansing, MI. The purpose of this award is to provide financial support to allow residents to supplement their training, enhance their clinical skills, and prepare them for board certification. The award will be in the amount of $500 and may be used to support travel, housing, and other costs associated with attending the boot camp. Candidates currently enrolled in an approved LAIM Residency Training Programs are eligible to apply.

Application Materials: Applicants must submit the following documents to Hannah Stuhr (Hannah@acvim.org) by Monday, September 23, 2019 (midnight EST):

1) Current CV
2) Letter explaining what the candidate hopes to obtain from attending the boot camp (1 page maximum)
3) A statement of financial need (e.g. disclose any travel or external training support provided by the candidate's program)
4) The letter should be signed by both the resident and resident advisor

The LAIM Specialty Executive Board will base its decision on the following criteria:
1) Candidate currently enrolled in an ACVIM-approved residency training program
2) Candidate clearly defines obtainable goals from attending the boot camp
3) Candidate demonstrates financial need

All completed applications will be considered on a first-come, first-served basis until all travel awards have been granted. A decision will be made within 5-7 business days of receipt of completed applications.
