

The ACVIM continually strives to offer a broad and comprehensive lineup of Advanced Continuing Education (ACE) opportunities. Through our dedication to being the trusted leader in veterinary education as well as our values of inclusion, connection, and excellence, we are pleased to share that select on-demand ACE courses are now available to the following AVMA-recognized veterinary specialties.

On-Demand Course	Dates	Eligible AVMA-recognized veterinary specialties
2023
Complicated Gastroenterology Cases: Medical and Nutritional Integration	November 6-7, 2023	ABVP ACVM
Clinical Communication for Specialists and Candidates	August 1, 2023	All AVMA-Recognized Specialty Groups
Novel Oncology Therapeutics: Targeting Hope	August 25, 2023	ACVR ACVS
Respiratory Emergencies for Internists	April 3-4, 2023	ACVECC
2022
Hope vs Hype in Veterinary Oncology Diagnostics	September 23, 2022	ABVP ACVR ACVS
North American Neuroscience Course (Brain Camp) - Advanced Diagnostic Imaging	July 30-August 14, 2022	ACVECC ACVR ACVS
North American Neuroscience Course (Brain Camp) - Advanced Veterinary Neuroscience	July 30-August 14, 2022	ACLAM ACVB ACVCP ACVECC ACVO ACVR ACVS
The Intestinal Microbiome - In Health and Disease	April 11-12, 2022	ABVP ACVM
Immunology and Hematology: A Comprehensive Clinical Update	March 28-30, 2022	ACVECC ACVP
2021
An Integrated View of Hepatobiliary Diseases in Cats and Dogs	September 27-29, 2021	ABVP ABVT ACVP ACVR ACVS
Brain Camp Online Part II - Large Animal Neurology	August 2021-October 2021	ACVECC ACZM
Infectious Diseases: A Comprehensive Update	April 26-27, 2021	ACVECC ACVP
Advanced Nephrology and Urology	April 19-21, 2021	ACVECC ACVP
2020
Advanced Endocrinology	November 2-4, 2020	ACVECC ACVP